

TEKNISKA KONTORET

To whom it may concern

The Municipality of Gävle decided in 2009/2010 to investigate the possibility of removing UXO, Unexploded Ordnance from Västra Kungsbäck, a former military I 14 exercise, training and shooting ground, later purchased by the Municipality of Gävle from the Swedish State (Swedish Fortification Agency).

Scanjack AB was contacted to investigate if the civil capacity of UXO removal existed in Sweden, as the Swedish Authorities did not have this capacity at the time, after they had made a small test run in the region and found UXO buried in the land to be exploited for civil industrial purposes and infrastructure.

An open tender was issued and won by Scanjack AB for a study of the problem, including execution and removal of the UXO.

The removal of the UXO was successfully done during 2010 and 2011, and was carried out in three phases, Phase 1 study, Phase 2 execution and removal of UXO, both phases carried out during 2010, encompassing the road & infrastructure segment of the area.

Phase 3 extended execution and removal of UXO in 2011, within the developing grounds infrastructure segment.

Scanjack AB has also assisted our consultant Tyrens Co., during 2010, when Tyrens carried out drilling for road structure preparations and environmental pollution testing concerning the area in question.

Scanjack AB has, during 2011, further assisted the winning tender road construction company NCC, regarding observation and handling of any remaining UXO during NCC excavation and construction of the road segment, that was cleared from UXO by Scanjack in 2010, Phase 2.
No such UXO was found.

The UXO clearing has been carried out according to Swedish environmental laws & conditions, incl. international Scanjack AB SOP (Standard Operational Procedures)
